From Information Clearing House | Original Article

According to the US government, three detainees — all imprisoned as part of the global war on terror — hung themselves in their cells that night. But Army Staff that night at Camp Delta, came to believe Sergeant Joseph Hickman, who was on guard were murdered in a secret CIA black something very different: that the three men site at Guantanamo. After leaving the Army, Hickman spent years looking into the deaths. His investigation has led him to write a new book. Murder at Camp Delta. Hickman sat down for the first time on camera with VICE News to tell the story of his investigation and what he learned about what happened that night in 2006.

Read "Evil Sponge Bob and Satan: Inside a Guantanamo Bay Prison Riot" - http://bit.ly/1ARDYno

Read "How Guantanamo Became America's Interrogation 'Battle Lab'" -

http://bit.ly/1Ilm25E

Watch "Guantanamo: Black Out Bay" - http://bit.ly/1wQh4Xh

Subscribe to VICE News here: http://bit.ly/Subscribe-to-VICE-News

Check out VICE News for more: http://vicenews.com